The diagram illustrates a test strip layout with a 5x8 grid of sample wells. The grid is divided into four equal quadrants, each containing a 5x2 sub-grid of wells. Above each quadrant, a label indicates that the 'Batch number and expiry date will be printed on the strip'. A vertical line separates the first two quadrants, and another vertical line separates the last two. A horizontal line at the bottom, with arrows at both ends, indicates the total width of the strip. Each well is represented by a dashed rectangular outline.
