as a Responsible Manufacturer of the medicinal product

NUTRIFLEX® LIPID PERI NOVO EMULSION FOR INFUSION

hereby offer supporting explanation for keeping the following statement in the SmPC / DfU – section 6.3 Shelf life:

After first opening (spiking of the infusion port)

The emulsion is to be used immediately after opening of the container.

Chemical and physicochemical in-use stability of the mixture of amino acids, glucose and fat was demonstrated for 7 days at 2–8 °C and an additional 2 days at 25 °C. However, this is not a priority recommendation for the product's use. It is not a recommendation for the regular product use to initially prepare the chambers' mixture and store it in the conditions described in the in-use stability study before its administration to the patient.

The ready-to-use product should be prepared at the time of the administration to the patient. If not used so, it is demonstrated that the mixture is stable for 7 days at 2–8 °C and an additional 2 days at 25 °C.

We hope that the explanation provided is satisfactory. We remain at your disposal.
